

NO. 44

Mr. Homer Cobb of this place, will return with a delegation from Gwinnet and we hope such will be the case all over Georgia. — Elizabethton Courier.

THE SIGNAL.

DAHLONEGA, GA. Sept. 4 1885.

Subscription prices: In advance, $3.00 per year; in arrears, $4.00 per year; single copies, 10 cents.

Advertisements: First insertion, 10 cents per line; second and subsequent insertions, 5 cents per line.

Local Items: Fodder gathering time is 'most here.

Waiver notes for sale by SUTTON & SON.

Mr. Ed Meador has gone to Troup county to a commissioning.

Mortgage-waiver notes for sale by SUTTON & SON.

Have you sowed those turnips? Too late now.

Common law and sheriff's deeds by SUTTON & SON.

Mr. Tom McCracken of Nacoochee, was in town Tuesday evening, the guest of Mr. F. B. Boardman.

Criminal warrants kept constantly on hand by SUTTON & SON.

Memorandum developed a hankering for the acquisition of Cuba. Not he don't.

Jessie's summation so cheap it will make your head swim by SUTTON & SON.

There have been 17,000 square acres of melons in town this season—more or less.

Blank subpoenas and fees always on hand for sale by SUTTON & SON.

Mr. W. H. Stanton and Miss. Sifton went to Lumpkin Campmeeting Monday morning.

We can do your printing as well as anybody, and as cheap.

Mrs. C. M. Moore and Mrs. Rice filled a large rattlesnake near the residence of the former near town last week.

We are selling blanks cheaper than dirt. Don't high in a country—except for taxes.

A large rattlesnake was killed near the residence of W. F. Cook a mile west of town on Tuesday of this week.

Now is the time to advertise. Just before the fall trade opens. Sharp merchants will make a note of it.

Mr. C. T. Standard of Mayfield came in several days before he was ready to enter college when it opens next Monday.

We will sell you any blanks in common use for less money than you will give for the white paper to write them on.

Try us and see. SUTTON & SON.

Miss Eunice Boardman of this place, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Fred Dover, of Nacoochee valley, Wilkes county.

Our legal blanks are all printed on good substantial paper, and are furnished by the ablest lawyers in this part of the state.

Last Sunday was a beautiful day for the campmeeting at Lonsdale and Lumpkin—that is, over the left.

Mrs. Wm. Sifton of N. C. and her daughter Miss Fannie Sifton are visiting at the house of Rev. Goodwin Hughes.

Mr. Will O'Farrell and his sister Miss Lulu O'Farrell of Athens Ga. passed through this place on their way to Porter Springs last week.

Dr. Howard has received his commission as post master at this place. We learn that he will take charge of the office to-morrow. "That do settle it."

We do not intend that any Justice of the Peace in this or any adjacent county, shall hereafter write his own warrants or summonses. We are almost giving them away.

Monday Mr. Joe Gurley had a watermelon weighing 62 1/2 lbs. It was raised by our townsman John A. Parker on his Clay Creek farm, and was sold, so Mr. J. W. Boyd for 40 cts.

No up anything off to get your job printing done, when you can get it done just as well at home. Keep the money in the country, and you stand a chance to get it again.

What is the use of a Justice of the Peace to avoid for an hour over a "fence book" writing a summons or warrant, and then maybe get it wrong, when he can get one that is warranted to be in proper form, already printed, for less money than the blank paper would cost to write it on?

SUTTON & SON.

—Prof Gaillard arrived at home Tuesday.

—The rain this morning will make the turnips grow.

—Prof Wilson and family returned on Wednesday.

—Col. W. P. Jones has returned from New York.

—R. L. Foster of Rome Ga. has arrived in town to enter college.

—Mr. J. H. Billings came in on yesterday morning to re-act college.

—Col. Lewis Davis, of Toconoco, is in town. He is accompanied by his mother.

—Marshall Jas. V. Harrison went to Atlanta to the laying of the corner stone, Wednesday.

—Miss Lizzie Slack, Miss Sadie Brown and Mrs. A. C. Johnson leave this morning for a visit to the latter's mother.

—Mr. O. Johnson, a young brother of Mr. A. C. Johnson of the Old Commissary, will enter college on Monday.

—Mr. A. C. Johnson, for the P. W. Hall Mass Co. lot of the Pigeon Roost, Rome, Ga., has arrived at sheriff's sale on last Tuesday for $550.00.

—Mr. W. B. Jaynes, the popular and energetic reporter for the Daily Signal on behalf of the Phi Mu Society, has arrived to enter college next Monday.

—Married in Cleveland, White county, on Sunday last, at the residence of O. P. Craig, the bride's father, Col. H. K. Myers to Miss Candy Craig, Rev. J. P. Osborne officiating.

—Giant Sassafras tree is extensively advertised under false names, Rome of the Ope thus disguised. If, pick your trust in the vanquisher of all diseases, Dr. RICHMOND'S SASSAPARILLA. Price $1.50, at Druggists.

—Messrs P. M. Sifton Jos. Gurley, J. A. Howard, A. C. Johnson, J. M. Reid, F. T. Chapman, Rev. A. C. Ward, Dr. Jones, Dr. Coates, and Willie Price and Tom Baker, went to Atlanta to the laying of the corner stone of the new capital Wednesday.

—Mr. O. M. Hatch and lady with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Parson from Ridgewood Fla. were in town this week, stopping at the popular boarding house of Mr. R. Meador. Mr. and Mrs. Parson lost an infant child about 20 months old on Monday.

—Not wishing to be behind the balance of the world, we contributed a copy of the Weekly Signal, a bound volume of the Daily Signal, a bound volume of the Student's Herald, and a copy of the catalogue of the W. G. A. College, to the depository to be made in the corner stone of the New Capitol.

—Col. W. Boyd our representative in the legislature, returned to Atlanta on Sunday last at this train. He was accompanied by his son Col. M. G. Boyd, who, we learn, a prominent candidate for State Legislature. We hope the State will do itself the honor to interest him with the office, the duties of which no one in the state is better qualified to fill.

—Mr. Ed. L. Smith has withdrawn from the firm of Sifton & Son, A. C. debts due the firm will be paid to D. C. Sifton, the Senior partner, who assumes all the liabilities of the same. For many reasons of convenience, the business will be carried forward in the firm name until further notice.

—We should be glad, once in a while, to have you come around and say let you will pay, if ever the hard times let up. Of course we don't expect you to actually pay, but it helps amazingly to hear you acknowledge the obligation, and try to make us believe you would pay if you had money and no use for it.

—Ayer's Ague Cure, when used according to directions, is warranted to eradicate from the system all forms of malarial disease, such as fever and Ague, Chills, Fever, Intermittent Remittent and Bilious Fevers, and disorders of the liver. Try it. The experiment is a safe one, and will cost you nothing if a cure is not effected.

—The gloomy fears, the desponding views, the weariness of soul that many complain of would often disappear were the blood made pure and healthy before reaching the delicate vessels of the brain. Ayer's Sassaaparilla purifies and vitalizes the blood, and thus conduces to break of body and sanity of mind.

—We called attention last week, in a hurried note, to the large sale of lands advertised for the first Tuesday in October, by A. S. Johnson Esq. of J. M. Lamb Esq., of Charleston S. C. but the importance of the sale and the number of lots to be sold, would justify a more extended notice. These lots were not sold for taxes last October, as you will readily discover by reference to the advertisements, and the titles are perfect. This sale will afford an opportunity to invest in Lumpkin county real estate that will not probably occur again in a life time.

A colored woman, Ann Hogan, has recently died near Vicksburg, at the advanced age of 102 years. Her hair was three feet long. A sample of it was exhibited at the World's Exposition.

World's Exposition.

A Song of Gratitude.

In olden times, Bethesda's pool was famed for healing all diseases; Once plunged beneath the waters cold, Each evil state and sickness cured.

In modern days we find a cure, Of worth as rare, as much desired; A remedy safe, quick and sure; Dr. RICHMOND'S SASSAPARILLA.

TUTT'S

"I can do all the answering necessary on that, and several other subjects," was the cool reply, as Mrs. Marble walked deliberately past her, and descended the stairs, rather slowly, it is true, but in a remarkably life-like, not to say defiant manner, followed by the nurse.

Mr. Marble was in the act of taking his seat at the table, when the door opened, and his wife stood before him.

"Why, my dear!" he exclaimed, "how could you—?"

"Is there anything so very unusual in a lady presiding at her husband's table, Mr. Marble?" responded his wife, taking the chair Mrs. Swanson was about to appropriate.

"Well—no," stammered the gentleman, "but your health—"

"Has taken a decidedly favorable turn, thank you! Ladies!"—addressing the "two gorgons"—"I would like to have some private conversation with my husband. I will let you know if I need your assistance," and setting upon the hint the attendants withdrew.

"Now, my dear, I have said one thing to say to you," said Mrs. Marble, with spirit. "It is very evident to me that those two women don't understand my case at all, and I do not wish you to incur any further expense in that direction. I shall discuss them at once."

"But, my dear!" remonstrated her husband, "is not this action very abrupt? It will not be better to wait until—"

"I think not," interposed Mrs. Marble, with a suspicious flash in her eyes. "Delays are dangerous. If I require any further assistance I will send for Susie or Kate, and have some one with me who can speak like a living creature and not like a galvanized corpse. I will give them notice at once that they must leave to-morrow morning."

Stepping into the next room, Mrs. Marble beheld the "two gorgons" standing side by side, stiff and erect, in the middle of the room.

"You needn't go," said the nurse, anticipating her as she was about to speak. "We have heard all you said to your husband, and since that is the extent of your gratitude for our unwearied and faithful services, we will not wait for you to dismiss us, but dismiss ourselves."

She turned, as she spoke, towards the housekeeper, there were a few rapid and dexterous movements of her hands, then caps, wigs and spectacles fell to the floor, and the merry, laughing faces of Susie and Kate met Mrs. Marble's astonished vision.

"What—what does this mean?" stammered the lady, looking from one to the other of the conspirators, for her husband had also joined the group. Then putting out one hand, which a smile played around the corners of her mouth, she continued:

"There—there! I see through the whole plot. You three have put your wicked heads together to cure my malady, and I must say you have succeeded admirably. But, oh, you good for nothing! she added, giving Kate, who had personated the housekeeper, a vigorous shake, "talking love to my husband, and trying on my dresses. I heard every word."

"I knew you did!" said mischievous Kate, "but as the matter now stands, I am not likely to prove much of a formidable rival! And I think you better not dismiss me right away, Anna, but let me stay a few days and show you how to make those biscuits."

"And let me read to you the remainder of those manuscript sermons," supplemented Susie, roguishly.

"Indeed, I shall keep you both here for some time, as a punishment!" said Mrs. Marble, after enjoying a hearty laugh. "And when my health is restored, if I feel the need of any further diversion, I will adopt and bring up some dear little girl, as you suggested a long time ago."

"You do not know how delighted I am, my dear wife, to witness these happy results," said her husband, putting his arm around her, and kissing her with more real affection than he had manifested for some time.

Mrs. Marble's recovery was rapid and permanent. Susie and Kate remained with her until she was thoroughly instructed in all the details of housekeeping which had formerly been left entirely to the care of servants, and in the active prosecution of which she found the long-desired boon of health. Nothing more was said, however, at the time of their departure, with regard to the project of adopting a little girl; but some months later, a letter going out in Mrs. Marble's hand-writing, addressed to her sisters-in-law, contained this closing paragraph:

"Come down as soon as you can, prepared to make us a good, long visit. At any rate, I want you to be here in time to be present at the baby's christening. She is a dear little creature, and I propose to call her Kate."

Debt and Credit.

Boston Beacon.

They had been to the circus, where they indulged in peanuts and lemonade. They then went to have some ice cream. She was very tired and managed to quarrel with him.

"How, is this the end?" he asked. "It is and I shall never speak to you again."

"And last Sunday you said you loved me."

"I did then; I don't now."

"Well, who is to pay for all the ice cream?"

"You horrid miser! You pay, and then you may send me a bill, and if I owe you a thing I will pay up!"

He paid and left. The next day she received an itemized statement: Miss Evelyn Jackson to Moses Brown, Dr.

A Pretty Fancy in Weddings.

At a recent wedding in this city the floral decorations and ornaments consisted almost exclusively of lilacs. So largely were these flowers used, that the event was spoken of in the newspapers as the lilac wedding.

The adoption of a particular flower for decoration purposes on such occasions is a pretty fancy capable of many pleasing applications.

The lilac of course, is suitable for May wedding. A rose wedding we suppose, would be most appropriate in June, although roses are procurable during every month in the year. A violet wedding would also come most naturally in the late spring or early summer, if indeed the violet is not too firmly associated with mourning to be made typical of a joyous event.

In the autumn a chrysanthemum wedding might be made both brilliant and rich with color.

We have mentioned only a few flowers out of at least a score of different sorts equally capable of being made the distinguishing ornaments of a marriage celebration. The lilac, the daisy and the daffodil are among these we have omitted, and the modest pink should not be forgotten.

The sameness of weddings of which people sometimes complain would disappear if the persons concerned in the ceremony would only try to give it a character of its own in such ways as that we have suggested.—N. Y. Ledger.

THE SIGNAL.

ANOTHER INCITEMENT!

A Magnificent Offer to our Patrons!

We have recently perfected an arrangement with one of the most prominent jewellers of the South, by which we are enabled to make, as inducements to our patrons to pay up their arrears, and to new subscribers:

To each subscriber who will pay up their arrears (if they owe anything) and a year's subscription to the Signal in advance, at $1.50 cash, we will give a fine silver match case which retails at $1.50.

To the person, in the county of Habersham, Lumpkin or Dawson, who sends us the largest number of subscribers (not less than ten) in his county, with the cash at $1.50 each (in addition to the match case to each subscriber) we will give a fine silver castor the retail price of which is $4.50.

To the person sending us the largest number of subscribers, not less than twenty, with the cash at $1.50 each, from any of the above-named counties (in addition to the match case to each subscriber) we will give a fine silver watch the retail price of which is $15.00.

Still Another Chance.

We want money. We want it mightily bad. We need it to buy paper. We need it to buy bread. We need it to pay rent. We need it to pay what we owe. We have made two propositions, to induce cash payments, as will be seen above. They have not had the desired effect. Now we make another. Hereafter, so long as this notice runs in the paper, whoever will pay us the money (if anything) and one dollar, cash, in advance, will receive the Signal for one year.

Now this does not apply to those who wish to take the American Farmer upon our offer, nor to those who accept the match-case proposition, nor to those who desire to pay us in trade, nor yet to those who delay to make payment. It is a special offer to those who pay cash in advance for subscription, and to be taken advantage of must be accepted at once—now, while this notice runs.

Now if you can give your paper at $1.00, call at once with the cash, for we may take this proposition out next week or any time, whenever we get tired of it, or conclude it won't pay. Now is the time. And you can accept it or either of the other two propositions above. But not two of them.

Death of C. T. Conroy.

Mr. C. T. Conroy, bookkeeper for the F. W. Hall Mfg. Co., died on Wednesday evening about 9 o'clock. Mr. Conroy was a young man of extra business qualifications, amiable disposition and courteous manners, and during his stay amongst us he made many warm friends who will drop a tear upon the sod that covers his remains. He was an Englishman by birth, and his nearest relatives, we believe, live in London. But it will be a source of satisfaction to them to know that, though in a strange land, he was surrounded in his last moments by friends who ministered to his wants with the hands of brethren. He will be buried to-day with Masonic honors.

Fine Ores.

Messrs. J. E. Strong, E. H. Gibbins of Michigan, J. H. Summerour, of Dawson county, called at our office last week and showed us quite a quantity of coarse and fine gold dust which had washed out and about half peck of, as pretty and rich specimens of gold quartz as we have ever seen. The ores were taken from veins on the lands of Mr. Joe Banks, near Winn's Ferry and various other well defined veins in Hall county. Mr. Summerour was raised in the mines of Lumpkin, Dawson and Forsyth, is an expert and professional prospector. He gives it as his deliberate opinion that the veins in Hall county are richer, better defined and larger than higher up the mountains. This has been our theory and belief for years, and we have stated it innumerable times. We predict again that there will be in the very near future some very large and rich veins of gold ore opened within a radius of ten miles of Gainesville and some within three miles.—Southern.

Mining News.

BARLOW.—The mill has been running steadily, and on full time, since our last report, with the usual good results. The cut is looking well, with heavy burdens of pay dirt—enough to supply their mill for years to come. Capt. Huff has been making some needed repairs about the flume-line and on balk-heads about the main pipe-line.

GORDON.—This mine is under the immediate supervision of Capt. J. W. Weaver, one of our best miners. He is a Western man, and knows exactly how to put things in ship-shape, as his work for the last few months, as foreman under Capt. Blackmer, will show. His experience in Western mines has enabled him to make the Gordon one of the most convenient and easily accessible, as well as one of the most substantial mills in the country. Capt. W. is the right man in the right place, as his close attention and practical supervision will prove, and we congratulate the company upon having secured his services. We confidently believe that under his skillful and close administration, the Gordon will soon be the leading mine in Georgia.

On starting up this mine a few months ago, there were only twenty stamps put in, but upon prospecting and opening up the mine, it was soon discovered that their crushing capacity was not sufficient, and they are now at work putting in thirty stamps more, making fifty in all, which will be ready for operations by the middle of October. When it is completed it will be one of the most substantial mills in the State. Capt. Weaver is satisfied that he will be able to supply the mill with plenty of ore, to keep it on full time for years to come, with the advantages he is taking in the working of the mine. He contemplates running both north-east and south-west on the belt, to which end he is pushing work with his usual vigor. Success to you, Capt. John, and hope that you may be successful in showing up to the world, one of the best mines in the south. We will call and see you again, and have more to say about the Gordon in the near future.

Col. N. H. Hand is here, looking after his mining interests, he being one of the principal stock-holders in the Gordon, and other valuable properties in this section. We are always glad to meet the Col., and hope his stay will be of long duration amongst us, as well as a pleasant and profitable one. Lumpkin owes him a debt of gratitude, that we hope she will pay by yielding him thousands of the precious metal. And may he live to a ripe old age to enjoy the same.

LOCKART.—We were informed by Capt. John Reid that he would from the present time on, run on full time, as water is now plentiful and more abundant than for some time past, and of a splendid grade. John seems determined to make the Lockart one of the leading mines in Lumpkin, and to that end he gives it early and late attention. He is an energetic, go-ahead little fellow, and we wish him much success.

RAWLSON.—We are reliably informed that this mine is looking much better than usual, and the yields more than had been anticipated. The mill is kept on full time.

This mine is under the supervision of Capt. Huff one of the safest miners in the state. He is too well known to require comment.

FINDLEY.—This mine is not at present contributing anything to the output of the country, for the reason that it is the policy of Capt. King not to take out the gold from the rich vein, but to leave it exposed. Yesterday forenoon the editor of this paper paid a visit to the mine, and saw a sight that was pleasing to the eye of cupid.

About nine feet of the streak is laid bare, exposing to view an amount of gold astonishing to tell. The Findley has a record in the past as the richest vein in the state, and to time since it began to contribute its million pennyweights of gold to the world, has it been better or richer than it is to-day.

Fashion Notes.

Parma meeting is the name of a new cloth.

Snowflake cloths will be largely used for children.

Chrysanthemum is a new shade of a deep rich blue, but it is not much used by itself.

Canvas and plush are the key-notes on which the several changes of autumn goods are rung.

Canvas looks like that worn during the summer with what appears to be the underlining of a contrasting color, this is really, however, all material.

Bonnets continue small, hats are in a variety of shapes. Silk, bronze, silver or steel are woven into all the bonnet materials.

Velvets are revived for cloaks black plain and with fringes. Astrakhan cloths are shown for the same purpose, in a variety of colors.

Little girls, no matter what is the color of their costume, wear black hose; very few colored and scarcely any white ones are seen.

Tan or slate-gray kid waistcoats look well in dark brown or gray cloth jackets.

Sets of three tan waistcoats are sent home with most cloth jackets.

The middleman jacket made of dark blue cloth is very smart looking. It is partly open in front to show a fancy canvas waistcoat, with lapels of black silk and gold buttons.

Broad velvet ribbon bands are resorted to wear around the neck, decorated with jeweled crescents stars, hearts, and different shaped ornaments. Some of these are very antique looking.

The bands of white edging the necks of dresses grows narrower daily, many are colored, not a becoming fashion. Because they are not popular although generally very becoming.

The new blouses are becoming with tight fronts, and pretty simulated hoods at the back, fastened down at the waist and losing themselves either in gathered fulness, or wide box plaits, reaching to the edge of the skirt.

Beady heads of wood are used upon bonnets, they are either made to ornament the crown or brim, or simply placed upon the edge. They are decidedly new and stylish.

Eider-down fannel is used for morning shoes all the children's shoes and wraps. It comes in all soft pretty shapes, is very light in weight, and extremely warm and pretty.—Godey's Lady's Book.
